

TERNZ Keynote Address
Professor Graeme Fraser
Some Reflections on the New Zealand Tertiary Research Environment

We are delighted to welcome Professor Graeme Fraser to TERNZ. On Tuesday at 9.00 am he will provide us with a personal reflection on the New Zealand Tertiary Research environment.

A recent press release from the Tertiary Education Commission gives a short overview of his many achievements:

‘Professor Graeme Fraser has an extensive and distinguished academic background in education and related areas of social policy. He is currently Chair of the New Zealand Qualifications Authority, the Health Research Council, and the Tertiary Teaching Excellence Awards Committee. In a distinguished career at Massey University in positions ranging from Professor of Sociology, Assistant Vice-Chancellor (Academic), Deputy Vice-Chancellor and, in 2002, Acting Vice-Chancellor, he gained a broad range of experience in all aspects of management. He maintains a profound interest in teaching and research’.
